

DREAM! REACH! SUCCEED!

8 Conditions That Make a Difference

The lessons young boys and girls learn today for building a strong, personal character will contribute to their growth in many areas for years to come.

Dream! Reach! Succeed!, a national student aspirations awards program, honors students who model the Eight Conditions That Make A Difference. Sponsored by NAESP and made possible with the generous support of The Hershey Company and the Quaglia Institute for Student Aspirations, this program allows students to dream about their future and take steps toward reaching their goals.

Each condition is a separate award, and principals can give one or several awards based on the conditions:

Belonging Does the student welcome others into the school or classroom? Do they help others feel more valued or safe at school? Are they working toward building a positive school climate?

Heroes Are they a positive role model to their peers or other student in the school? Do they inspire us to excel? Do they listen to and value the ideas of others?

Sense of Accomplishment Do they continually try their best? Do they succeed in ways that are not typically recognized? Does the student persevere in all situations? Is citizenship a key belief of the student?

Fun and Excitement Are they engaged in learning? Do they share their enthusiasm and energy with others?

Curiosity and Creativity Is the student inquisitive enough to ask “why?” and imaginative enough to ask “why not?” Are they active learners who desire to explore unknown areas?

Spirit of Adventure Are they willing to take a chance and push their boundaries to succeed? Do they readily take on positive, healthy challenges without the fear of failure?

Leadership and Responsibility Is the student unafraid to make a decision? Will he or she stand behind a choice and take ownership of the choice made? Do they express their ideas and are willing to accept the consequences of their actions?

Confidence to take Action Does the student set goals and take the necessary steps to meet them? Does the student have a positive, healthy outlook on life? Do they look inward vs. outward for approval?

These critical conditions are overlooked in the busy world of education, but they must be in place for students to succeed beyond the classroom. In addition, a student aspirations awards program can work toward building a positive, safe school environment as required by No Child Left Behind. And everyone can be involved, from teachers promoting the Eight Conditions in their classrooms to students modeling the conditions for each other.

Materials for the program include

- Attractive lapel pins for each condition.
- A FREE award certificate with each pin.

Order pins/certificates with the form on the back or online at the National Principals Resource Center, www.naesp.org/nprc.

The time to recognize and celebrate student aspirations and achievement is now! Give your students the chance to DREAM! REACH! SUCCEED!
