3. How might we demonstrate moral courage in a manner consistent with our school community’s values?
Cultural Responsiveness is more of a process than a strategy.

#ThankaPrincipal
“Cultural tools for processing information use the brain’s memory systems: music, repetition, metaphor, physical manipulation of content, and ritual.”

Making Connections: Culturally Responsive Teaching and the Brain
by Zaretta Hammond (2015)
“The neuroscience is clear on the connection between emotions, trust, and learning.”

Making Schools More Culturally Responsive

Kids need to see themselves in every area of their school.
