Session: Engaging Parents and Teachers with Flipped Communication
Speaker: Peter DeWitt
Date/Time: July 10, 2014, 8 – 9:30 a.m.
Notes by: Abi Van Regenmorter, principal of Laura Ingalls Wilder Elementary, De Smet, South Dakota

Session Summary
Flipped leadership doesn’t have to entail reinventing the wheel. Flipped leadership means that school leaders are no longer controlling all the information that their stakeholders receive. The flipped learning model engages students before class and maximizes time together; the same can be done with staff and parents.

5 Basics of Flipped Communication
1. Practice what you preach. (Model, model, model!)
2. Share funny videos from time to time.
3. The app Touchcast is a great, simple tool for making your videos.
4. Remember: there will be barriers. For instance, there are people who don’t trust technology. You’ll have to help them understand what you’re doing.
5. Showcase in your communication what your school does really well.

Next Steps
One strategy I will implement immediately: I will create back-to-school videos for staff, students, and parents.

One strategy that will help me with instructional coaching: I will send out instructional videos before staff meetings. Then, we will use a rubric to rate the video during the staff meeting.

I want to learn more about: Using Touchcast and SchoolTube.

Copyright © 2014. National Association of Elementary School Principals. No part of the articles in NAESP magazines, newsletters, or website may be reproduced in any medium without the permission of the National Association of Elementary School Principals.