I use the standards book to guide our New Principals program. It provides a perfect outline to engage principals in a discussion of what is really important about their jobs; otherwise, we bog down in the moment-to-moment and day-to-day challenges we face. My favorite section of the book is the Leadership Continuum at the end of each section. It allows me to assure principals that we do not start at a Level 1 and progress to a Level 5. We can rate our performance at different levels depending on the year we are having, or the situation we are tackling. The goal is to self reflect and to challenge ourselves to improve each day. I highly recommend this book for administrators at any point in their career.

No matter where your school is academically, you can always take it to the next level with Positive Action.

By teaching a unique combination of academic, behavioral, and social skills, Positive Action can predictably improve student achievement and behavior in less than an hour a week.

It is recognized as the only program in the nation rated as having “positive effects” for both academics and behavior in character education by the U.S. Department of Education What Works Clearinghouse.

Academics: +14 percentile points in reading, math, retentions, absenteeism
Behavior: +19 percentile points in violence, suspensions, drug, alcohol, and tobacco use

With over 26 years of research and development, you can feel confident Positive Action is easy to use and works! Find out today why positive change takes Positive Action.

NPRC has partnered with Positive Action to provide NAESP members with these special resources.
