Things to think about:
• Don’t feel like you need to be a Pinterest Principal
• None of us have a pandemic handbook so make sure to pull back and give grace to others and yourself
  o Space and grace
• Share the why and reason behind what you are doing (budget restrictions, stay at home orders, and other impacts it has on what you are doing for staff appreciation or not doing)
• Start planning for next year, put it in your Google calendar
  o Start with one or two...don’t overwhelm yourself
• “My Favorite Things” survey so you know what staff like o Use Google Form
• Know your staff and know what they need (work love language)
  o Tone of building
• We are all at different place and in different circumstances-honor this
• This is a marathon NOT a sprint
• Spread this out so you don’t overwhelm yourself or your staff o Spread out and space out (intentional giving)
• Think about using a checklist to keep track of staff and interactions so you can be accountable
• Are there others that can help you do this? Can you create a team, delegate, or empower others?
  o Create a teacher appreciation taskforce
  o Hospitality Committee
