

5 Things

What you need to know about the Association that has your back.

The work of a principal is never done. You do it all, and you love it. But even principals require support. We want to keep you in the know about how your Association is serving you, while you serve kids. Here are five things you need to know:

1 The early bird gets the art supplies.

NAESP and Crayola's Champion Creatively Alive Children program awards schools grants of $3,500 to establish a creative leadership team and build their creative capacity. Early Bird applications submitted by June 5 will receive a free Crayola product Classpack.

2 Teamwork makes the dream work.

NAESP's annual conference is an opportunity for principals to connect with peers, learn best practices, and access today's education movers and shakers. Share the knowledge with your colleagues by attending together; register a team of three or more from your district to save $50 per person.

3 We give you new ways to honor students.

Your students work hard and deserve to be recognized. Enhance your end-of-year ceremony with the President's Education Awards Program (PEAP) certificates. New this year: graduation cords and certificate jackets.

4 NAESP can help you stay up-to-date.

What are the latest trends in ed leadership? We deliver the answers to your email inbox twice a week in NAESP's newly launched Principal Insights (formerly Before the Bell). Use the resource to stay informed and learn new leadership tips.

5 Data can help you obtain funding for afterschool and summer learning.

Learn how to use data to build a case for funding, plus access best practices and resources by state in NAESP's new Afterschool & Summer Learning Portal.
